

Live Animals Regulations chapter 1.3.8. issued by IATA.

„Carrier will not be liable for any loss, damage or expense arising from death due to natural causes or death or injury of any animal caused by the conducts or acts of the animal itself or of other animals such as biting, kicking, goring or smothering, nor for that caused or contributed to by the condition, nature or propensities of the animal or by defective packaging of the animal, or by the inability of the animal to withstand unavoidable changes in its physical environment inherent to the carriage by air. In no event will the carrier be liable for death or injury to an animal attendant caused, or contributed to, by condition, conduct or acts of animals.

Attention of shippers is also drawn to the airlines general conditions of carriage referred to on the reverse of the air waybill for consignments offered for carriage. The Carrier does not assume any obligation to carry the goods by any particular aircraft or other conveyance. The carrier is authorized to select and to deviate from or change the route of the shipment, notwithstanding the same as stated on the air waybill without any liability therefore. “
